The Department of Education does not maintain data on ownership of our vendors regarding their affiliation with the groups in question. The report was compiled based on personal knowledge of our contractors by project management staff. Based on Hawaii procurement law, the Department of Education does not seek to qualify awards based on ownership affiliation and has made efforts to remain agnostic to selection criteria other than those provided for under the Hawaii Procurement Code. The Department of Education is cautious of employing discretionary criteria that could be the basis for litigation in challenging awards.

The information contained in this report pertains to A&E and construction contracts. The parameters of the report were unclear, but it appears to pertain to A&E services and the report captures construction and design contracts for the period in question.
